

Most of Boston's monuments are unchanging objects made of permanent materials like stone and bronze. They celebrate certain people and leave out others in the process.

For the most part, they do not have the ability to reflect the memories and values of a complex, complicated, and constantly changing city.

WHAT SHOULD WE REMEMBER?

Who decides the events we remember?

What if we commemorated the memories embedded in our everyday spaces?

What carries memory in your own life?

PICK A PLACE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THAT MEANS SOMETHING TO YOU, AND TELL US ITS STORY.

Is it a park? A storefront? A bench? A trashcan or a staircase?

Use this space to sketch out your memory of this place. Feel free to include your _____ , _____ , or any information about your choice.

age

date or age of the memory

Where is your memory located? Please be as specific as possible (address, intersection, etc...).

Your monument will be tagged with a QR code sticker linked to your drawing at offthelinth.net .
